Articles of association (statuten)

Preamble

Triodos Bank's founders were strongly affiliated with Anthroposophy and/or the Christian Community. Anthroposophy provided them with important insights about Triodos Bank's ownership structure, the role of money, the role of a bank in society and the activities that go with it.

Social renewal, dealing consciously with money and using the different qualities of money for positive impact are all important goals for the organisation.

A threefold perspective on society underpins this vision, namely: that every human being can develop themselves in freedom, that they each have equal rights, and all are responsible for the impact of their actions on each other and the earth (as described in Article 2 of the Articles of Association).

Triodos Bank's mission is to realise and promote quality of life in the broadest sense, not just here and now but over the long-term and from a global perspective.

Human dignity is at the core of Triodos Bank's work: referring to each person as an individual, as part of a wider community and as a participant in taking care of a healthy earth.

Triodos Bank wants to enable and encourage people and organisations to align these values with their own, including their financial actions.

Triodos Bank stands for values-based banking, guiding how everything is done and upon which it transparently reviews its actions.

1. The authorised share capital of the company is one billion five hundred million euro (EUR 1,500,000,000), divided into thirty million (30,000,000) ordinary shares, each having a nominal value of fifty euro (EUR 50).

4. The executive board shall keep a shareholders' register setting out the names and addresses of all shareholders, stating the amount paid up in respect of each share. The register shall be regularly updated.

6. The register shall be available at the offices of the company for inspection by shareholders.

9. The executive board shall be authorised, subject to the approval of the supervisory board, to undertake legal actions as referred to in article 2:94 of the Dutch Civil Code, without prior approval of the general meeting.

Issue of shares. Own shares

Article 4

1. The executive board is, upon the approval of the supervisory board, authorised to resolve on the issue of new shares. This authority of the executive board regards the total un-issued part of the authorised share capital as referred to in article 3 paragraph 1.
2. The appointment of the executive board as the body authorised to issue shares may be extended in the articles of association or by a decision of the general meeting, on each occasion for not longer than five years.
Upon appointment, a determination shall be made as to how many shares may be issued. Unless otherwise stipulated in the appointment, the appointment cannot be withdrawn.
3. If the authority of the executive board terminates, the issue of shares shall take place pursuant to a resolution of the general meeting, notwithstanding the designation of another corporate body by the general meeting. The provisions of this paragraph and the preceding paragraphs of this article shall also apply where rights are granted to subscribe for shares, but shall not apply to the issue of shares to a person exercising an existing right to subscribe for shares.
4. With the decision to issue shares, the price and other conditions of issue shall be determined.
5. Upon the issue of shares, each shareholder shall have a pre-emption right in proportion to the aggregate nominal amount of his shares. He shall however not have a pre-emption right to shares issued in return for any contribution other than money.
He shall also have no pre-emption right to shares issued to employees of the company or of a legal person or company with which the company are affiliated in a group.
6. The pre-emption right may be limited or excluded by the executive board subject to the approval of the supervisory board. Paragraphs 1, 2 and 3 of this article shall then apply mutatis mutandis.

10. The acquisition by the company of shares or depository receipts in its own share capital which have not been fully paid up shall be null and void.
11. With due observance of the provisions of paragraph 13 of this article, the company may only acquire fully paid up shares in its own capital for no consideration or if its equity, less the acquisition price, is not lower than the sum of the paid and called up part of its capital and the reserves which must be maintained by law. For the purposes mentioned above the amount of the equity according to the most recently adopted balance sheet, less the acquisition price for shares in the capital of the company, the amount of loans as referred to in article 2:98c paragraph 2 of the Dutch Civil Code and any distributions to others out of the profits or reserves that became due by it and its subsidiaries after the balance sheet date, shall be determined. If more than six months have elapsed without adoption of the annual accounts, then an acquisition in accordance with this paragraph shall not be permitted.
12. Acquisition for consideration can only be made if the general meeting has duly authorised the executive board thereto and the resolution of the executive board to this effect has been approved by the supervisory board. Such authorisation shall be valid for no more than five years. The general meeting shall specify in its authorisation the number of shares or depository receipts which may be acquired, the manner in which they may be acquired and the limits within which the price must be set.

Holders of a right of usufruct or pledge in respect of shares belonging to the company or its subsidiaries are not, however, precluded from exercising their right to vote if the right of usufruct or pledge was created before the relevant share first came to be held by the company or a subsidiary. The company or a subsidiary may not cast any vote relating to shares in respect of which it has a right of usufruct or pledge.
- On own shares in the possession of the company and on shares of which the company holds the depository receipts, no profit shall be paid out in favour of the company, nor shall any dividend distributed on the winding up of the company be paid thereupon, in favour of the company.
15. In determining whether a specific proportion of the capital is represented, or whether a majority represents a particular proportion of the capital, the capital shall be reduced by the amount of the shares for which no vote can be cast.
16. Without prejudice to the stipulation in paragraph 17, the company may only take in pledge own shares or own share depository receipts, if:
- the shares to be taken in pledge are fully paid up;
 - the nominal amount of the own shares and depository receipts for own shares to be taken in pledge, and the own shares and depository receipts for own shares already held or held in pledge do not together amount to more than half of the issued capital; and
 - the general meeting has approved the pledge agreement.
17. The stipulations in paragraph 16 shall not apply for shares and depository receipts, which the company takes in pledge in the ordinary exercising of credit operations.
18. The company and its subsidiaries may not provide security, give a price guarantee, otherwise act as surety or otherwise bind itself jointly and severally with or for third parties, for the purposes of the subscription or acquisition by third parties of shares in its own capital or of depository receipts issued therefore.
- The company and its subsidiaries may not grant loans for the purpose of the subscription or acquisition by third parties of shares in the capital of the company or of depository receipts issued therefore unless the executive board resolves thereto and the applicable legal requirements and constraints have been met.
